Bates was the largely interested in the World's Safe-Compeny—the manufacture of Lathers Safe—in this away; and it is represented that his advance to the Company of between $75,000 and $100 000 is the cause of his present embarrasament, and as we think the result will prove, only temperary stoppings. We are informed that this suspension does not affect the house of Bates & Griffin. d Bates & Griffin.

The Boston Transfer understands that George Miller, who for several years past has been extensively en-maged in land and building operations in Waltham, hiled last week. His liabilities are said to be heavy.

A Western paper says:

The Boston Post says:

Money is in quicker demand, and the supply, even at advanced rates, is scanty. On Saturday, the very best paper went at 91 in a few instances; but the current rate for it was 10 F cent. Lenders are holding back for higher rates, as our market has been perceptibly affected by the discounting of paper on New-York account, and the heavy returns from New-York of Eastern circulations. On Friday our banks lost $153,600 of specie to New-York, and on Saturday it was reported that the Suffelk would be obliged to send $150,000 more. On Saturday morning the aggregate specie holding of State street was $3.339.160. The present week begins, doubtless, with about $3,200,000. New-York funds are now in active demand, both from Banks and individuals. For anything hat paper theroughly known to the purchaser rates are high and irregular, and great difficulty is experienced in obtaining the money at any price on good but out-of-theway notes. It is to be hoped that as rates for all but the very choicest paper are now nearly or quite up to Wall street questations, this market may be allowed to keep quietly on in its present condition, which, as may be inferred from the foregoing remarks, is none too good for berrowers. If our specie run down much below three millions, money will be very tight here from the effect of outside necessare. The Philadelphia Leiger says:

We have never known a time when the Philadelphia market has stood a crash in any part of the country with more firmness and seeming confidence in the generally healthful condition of our own institutions and our own business men than it now stands and winesses the failures and excitement at New-York and other places. The whole mercantile interest, dry goods men and grocers, are seemingly above suspicion. In fact, almost all who have kept themsolves free from speculations in railroad securities are believed to be comfortable in their business operations. There is a good demand for money on Third street at about 1 be comfortable in their business operations. There is a good demand for money on Third street at about 1 P cent a month for first-class bills.

The Chicago Press says:

As might be expected, money in Chicago must be reported close. The banks must act cautionsly, and their costomers ought not to blame them for saying "No." We have never heard them, however, express more entire confidence in the financial position of the West; and though other castern houses may be "swamped," the vigorous, teeming West is bound "to go through." There has been no excitement whatever in the city. Our people seem to have the most entire confidence in the soundness of our principal city banks, and we have the best reasons for stating that their confidence is well founded. There is, besides, not the least disposition among our people to create distrust and get up "a run" upon the country bankers. A single infamous attempt to shake conficore has been made by ore of our newspapers, but it only excited well-merited scorn and contempt.

The principal bankers have been discounting short produce bills for their customers as usual. They are acting, however, with great caution, and loans for ordinary purposes are almost entirely refused. The amount of paper in the street has been imited, and hence business has not been active with the note brokers. Rates have been nominal at 2 P cent, with very little disposition to operate. The prospect in the present "stormy times" is that it will be better "to wait for a rise."

For a rise."

[From the Cicinnati Gazette.]

Saturday, P. M.—In the way of discounting the bankers are doing but little, but accommodations are being extended to a considerable extent among the merchants, and thus matters are kept in a tolerably comfortable condition.

All high tides have their ebbs. It is now ebb tide in Wall street-why should it not be so in Forty-fourth street? Verily, with drovers and owners of beeves, they will think of this day as an ebb-tide market. We have reduced our quotations upon the average 1 c. ₩ lb, and the same upon all grades except the lowest at the same rate, and only not upon that class quite so much simply because they are better than the week before. In fact, the general average quality is much better than it was this day week, and that makes the actual fall still greater than it appears by our quotations. Besides, the old adage that "Nobody buye upon a falling market," is more true of this than any other we ever knew. At all times have we no. ticed that such a fall in price as to-day, compared with this day week creates a most decided dull me, cket. The sales at Bergen this week have been large, as well as as the down town stables, at better prices than rule here to-day, and the cattle sold dere yesterday were a cent a pound better for owners than to-day, for which they may thank the extreme folly of batchers.

We do not blame drovers and brokers for taking advantage of their superior knowledge of the prospect butchers, if they can; because, whenever they try to slip into the yards the day before the market to get the start of their fellows, they show their own readiness to be guilled, and are treated accordingly. A good many of the cattle sold Tuesday evening were at prices equivalent to 12c. a pound for the beef, and an effort was made to open the market this merning at that figure, but the thing would not work. It was at once easy to see, in spite of all the dividing and scattering of droves through the back pens, as well as the regular sale yards, that there was a very full market. It soon became known, also, that some 500 head were in the up-town feed lots, and that an equal number were held back at Albany, and nearly as many were in New-Jerssy and up the Eric road. We heard, also, early in the day, of droves that were on the way for this market that were telegraphed and stopped at Toledo. In all, we have no doubt that, with the over supply to-day, and what were shipped for this day's sales, there are cattle enough to make up a fair supply for next week, without wanting a hoof shipped specially for the maket next week.

And if these facts were known to buyers, as they might be as well as to us, is it any wonder that owners were willing to sell at the reduced price, even at a loss, as many of them did most undoubtedly.

An effort will be made to "regulate" the supply for next week, so as to bring up the price again. It can only be done by regulation, because the price to-day is really high, and we think as high as it will legitimately bear, particularly at this season of the year, and it will be better for all parties to try to hold it steady.

All good Beeves to-day are 11 a 11 c. b. fs, and all of that quality known as fair shipping or packing Beef is 10c. No doubt it will be reported that Beef Cattle sold to-day at 71 a 81c. It is no such thing—none fit to be called Beeves sold at any such price. Some stock Cattle, and light, thin Steers and Cows did sell at $250 c. to suchers—we be g pardon of the freterity of batchers, we mean to "killers"—a proper term to des the start of their fellows, they show their own readi-

The weather to-day was not favorable to the seller, it being very warm and depressing—not at all calculated to inspire the but here that their customers would have an extra appetite; and so it seemed to us, notwithstanding the fall in the price, they beauth espiricity and husiness seemed to gow more and muro dell as the day advanced. A few country buyers were walting for a chance to buy low, which may save some of the dravers from keeping over the tail end of their draves till next week.

We make notes of sales of a few droves to corroborate our statement of prices.

Barney Bartram sold a drove of pretty fair Obio steers, part Durbams, for R. R. Seymour, at $71—estimated at 64 over, making an average of He. More than half were sold Tuesday, and some of them at 12c; to-day none over He. The drove averaged 13 cwt. live weight at home.

Wm. H. Belden, for Josof Dalby, is selling 30 Ohio and 20 Illinois steers, part grades, the best at He., and very dell at that. They are generally 4 and 5 years old, and many of them good fair beef.

Wells & Hoxie wholesaled a drove to Mead & Holcomb, to take up the country, to sell to farmers, at a price calculated equiva-the cash.

ZINC—since the recent movement is Beiglan Sheet, the make patakes of a more buoyant feeding, small sales from store are making at $1,000, cash and 6 mos.

Alse, for Johnson & Templeton, 58 light Indians steers sold at $50 lee at Bergen.

Alse, for Johnson & Templeton, 58 light Indians steers sold at $50 lee at Bergen.

Miller, Haring & Gurney sold mostly Mondây and Tuesday at Bergen, 308 head, at $50 lie; the Bergen sales lee better thin here. Also 68 light Indians steers, average $1 cwt. at $55 for Ragan & Bailard.

M. F. Beach's drove of mostly Ohio Durhams, from Madison County, of pretty fair quality, are selding by Budleng at 11c. for all the hist sales, but very slow. This would be a good lot to feed, but are not good for the butcher.

George Avrault is selling for Louderback & Eisner a drove of Kentucky Durhams, Olide fed, at the on? cwt. average. The best sold at $50; one lot at $50.50 was 115c.

Also a lot of light Indians stock, 21 of the heaviest to Charles Cooper, for Bermuda, at $73, or full floe.

Appropriate and sitting for the tail end of our notes of sales, we note the sale of a Tems drove, sold by Simon Chary for John T. Alexander, who has sent to this market as great a number of good, iair, even quality of estile, suitable for market retailing beef, as any other man, and never before has owned a drove of Texans and we are credibly informed that he was so ashamed of these that he doded around the corner and hid in the barn while they came into the yards.

The feeder of this lot of catthe is one of the most noted in Illinois, being no less than Jacob Straun himself. We are sorry be was not also present. Not that this lot is any worse than the whole Texas family, but that he might learn, if he has not airready, that good as lee is as a feeder, he cannot make Texas cattle if for this market, or any other that knows good beef. To prove to others that this stock will not bear feeding, we will state that Mr. Stram bought these cattle a year ago last June at 21c. upon 12 cwt. two weeks ago. To day they will not all the cet, and the owner will lose money. An average lot s

THE SHEEP MARKET.

The following memorandam, furnished us by J. W. Moore, clerk for Browning, will give a fair idea of the condition of the Sheep market this week. He says:

Although the receipts this week are but 797 head less than last week, and the supply on hand quite considerable, yet the prices have advanced some and drevers appear a little more smilling than last week, when there were many sober faces among them. The cause of the better prices is simply that the stock is better and the supply of lambs is not quite as large sheep being more in demand, and just enough of them on sale to supply the market. The receipts were from this State Ohio and Indians. There are about 1,000 on sale to-day, including to day's receipts. During the few hard market days last week several dreves, coming from Albany, were shipped back again in the expectation of realizing better prices there. Quite a number of stock went to grass on Friday last to be kept over for Monday.

On Saturday most of the remaining poor stock was cleased for
